banks to the hypothalamus in the brain, which turns the stress switch on. This stress response, or fight or flight mode, is only supposed to happen if our life is in imminent mortal danger.

Love Vs. Fear: A Scientific Look · Dr. Alex

What does “love vs. fear” mean? Basically, it’s the notion that our thoughts can be grouped into 2 main categories: love or fear. Loving thoughts are based in acceptance, generosity, and humility, while fearful thoughts are based in disconnection from others and the world.

Love vs. Fear — Valerie Bisharat

On the surface, love is a positive emotion that fosters a connection between people, whether they are parents, lovers, friends or family of any kind. Fear, on the other hand, does exactly the opposite. When we fear someone or something, we want to do anything other than connect with the in order to diminish our painful, unwanted thoughts and feelings. When we love we actively try to engage with or advance the source of our love in order to strengthen our pleasant, wanted thoughts and feelings.

Fear And Love - Evolution Counseling

French poet and critic Paul Valéry was born in the small western Mediterranean village of Sète, France in 1871. Critics have called Valéry the last French symbolist, the first post-symbolist, a masterful classical prosodist, and an advocate of logical positivism. Clearly, Valéry was heir to the symbolist tradition of another French poet, Stéphane Mallarmé, whom he knew and venerated, who ...

Philophobia & 13 Other Phobias Around Falling In Love

Paulo Freire, a Brazilian expert on education says: "The opposite of love is not, as we many times or almost always think, hatred, but the fear to love, and fear to love is the fear of being free." Love softens you, fear hardens you. Love opens the universe, fear isolates you in yourself. Why are we afraid to love? "Fear is the most difficult emotion to handle. You cry the pain, you scream the anger, but fear is docked silently in your heart."-David Fischman-Love is always a risk ...

Fear the Beard (Dixie Wardens Rejects MC #2) by Lani Lynn ...

There are only two feelings: love and fear. There are only two languages: love and fear. There are only two activities: love and fear. There are only two motives, two procedures, two frameworks, two results: love and fear. Love and fear. About two decades ago I heard this overly simplistic idea—that there are really only two emotions, love or fear —and I disregarded it.
